Defiant Congress Hands President Huge Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A defiant Congress, turning a deaf ear to Republican veto warnings, today handed President Eisenhower a "last chance" billion-dollar housing bill.

Party lines fell apart Thursday as the House, by a topheavy 283-105 vote, completed congressional action on a $1,050,000,000 bill that contained the same features that prompted a housing veto last month.

At stake was the President's perfect record of never having a veto overridden. This time the House virtually dared him to challenge its action.

The overwhelming vote far exceeded the two-thirds necessary to override. The Senate vote, on Aug. 19, likewise was by an overriding majority of 72-14.

With adjournment fever mounting, and House leaders looking forward to quitting by next weekend, the President was confronted with a take-it-or-leave-it proposition.

"If President Eisenhower wants a housing bill, this is his last chance," proclaimed Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), sponsor of the bill and Democratic housing spokesman.

When the President vetoed the first $1,375,000,000 housing bill as excessive, he hit at new public housing authority, loans to extend the government into college classroom construction, and other features.

And in a message last Tuesday, Eisenhower told Congress to limit itself to extending the authority of the Federal Housing Administration to insure home mortgages. This insurance authority, which does not involve additional funds, is already about five billion dollars in excess of congressional limitations.

But the House Thursday, with machine-gun monotony, knocked down successive Republican backed efforts to revise the bill and kill features already denounced as objectionable by the President.

On final passage, 54 Republicans and 229 Democrats voted for the bill. Only 76 Republicans and 29 Democrats voted against it.

Principal features retained in the bill over Eisenhower's objections were 37,000 new units of public housing, an entirely new program of federal loans for college classrooms, a one-year "crash" program of 650 million dollars for city slum elimination, and a one-year cutoff date on FHA mortgage insurance authority.

Throned of fair goers, officials hope, will pour through the gates during the next eight days.

Roy Rogers, movie and television star, will be the grandstand attraction for the first four days. Rogers, a native of Duck Run, Ohio, and his wife, Dale Evans, were featured at the 1956 fair.

Forecasters say the weather will be hot and humid for the most part, with a few showers, but such things don't seem to deter the fair crowds.

Last year's paid attendance was 271,431 (291,982 including an exhibition football game), and it was held in relatively cool and rainy weather. In 1956 a record 342,272 persons took in the fair attractions.

Fair manager Rowland expressed belief the heat will not affect the number of livestock to be exhibited. There are some 115,000 animals competing for $118,000 in premiums.

One thing will be missing today, Terhune said. The heat and low levels in lakes resulted in there being no fish available for the free fishing at least until Saturday.

Today is youth day at the fair. A junior fair queen will be crowned and there will be a young people's talent show and junior fair judging.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was to be at the fairgrounds at 9 a.m. to conduct probably the first cabinet meeting ever held here.

The theme of the fair for 1959 runs to the effect that there's something at the fair for everyone.

Looking over the program, that sounds logical.

The Air Force will display a 65-foot Thor missile.

The Rogers show will be followed, on the last four days of the fair, by a fireworks display.

The All-Ohio Boys Band will march around the grounds and play concerts for fair visitors.

Grand Circuit harness racing will be held five afternoons on the fairgrounds track. It begins Saturday, then runs Monday through Thursday.

Of course, there are the multitude of exhibits to catch the eyes of the youngsters and the older "kids" who "remember when."

Who's Sorry Now

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP)—Police put their radar equipment to work after receiving complaints of automobiles speeding through residential areas.

They announced the results Thursday: most of the speeding was being done by motorists living in the neighborhood from which the complaints came.

"WELL DONE, IKE" — President Eisenhower acknowledges the cheers of hundreds of thousands of Britons as he rides with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan along a 16-mile route from London airport to the U.S. embassy residence. Londoners wept and cried out "Well done, Ike," as he rode by.

Klumpff Sentenced; She Accuses Lover

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eldythe Klumpff was sentenced in Hamilton County Criminal Court today to die in the electric chair on Dec. 15.

Sentencing came after her attorney read a statement by her in which she accused William Bergen of killing his estranged wife.

Mrs. Klumpff, tight lipped and showing no outward emotion, was convicted last July 2 of killing Bergen's wife, Louise, 32, on Oct. 30, 1958.

Mrs. Klumpff and Bergen had been living together for five months.

Judge Frank M. Gusweiler, pronounced sentence after overruling a motion for a new trial that had been filed by Defense Attorney William F. Hopkins.

When Judge Gusweiler asked Mrs. Klumpff if she had anything to say in her behalf she looked hesitatingly at Hopkins and shook her head negatively. It was then that Hopkins produced the statement he said she made to him on Aug. 17.

He admitted he did not believe the story Mrs. Klumpff had told during her trial.

Hopkins said a minister came to him early this month and told him Mrs. Klumpff had told him what "was the truth in this case."

Hopkins said he then went to see Mrs. Klumpff and obtained a five-page statement.

In the statement, Mrs. Klumpff said both she and Bergen were with Mrs. Bergen on the evening of the slaying. She said that when she joined Bergen and his wife they were arguing over money and that "at one time . . . Bill slapped her."

She related that she wanted to go to a restroom and that Bergen directed her toward what he said was a new subdivision. They were riding in Mrs. Klumpff's car at the time.

Mrs. Klumpff said she stopped and was away for about five minutes.

"When I came back, she (Mrs. Bergen) was on the front seat and he was leaning over her," her statement said. "I don't know what he was doing. I got excited and passed out. I went down on the ground. Her head was all bloody. I didn't see anything in his hand. I didn't see the gun."

"When I came to, Bill was bringing me to. I looked at her again and felt her pulse and then I started running down the road. I said I was going for help. Bill told me to get back there or I would get some of the same thing."

"He opened the trunk and told me to help him. When I wouldn't he started yelling at me that I had to help him."

"He said they were arguing and she was crying and she reached in her purse for a tissue and then she leaned over and opened the glove compartment."

"I thought it was locked but he said she opened it and pulled the gun out and he reached over and grabbed her arm and the gun went off under her chin and shot her."

Mrs. Klumpff's statement said there was a bloody monkey wrench on the floor near the back seat of the car but she said she did not see Bergen use the wrench.

She also declared that it was Bergen who poured gasoline on his wife's body and burned it the next day at Lake Cowan in Clinton County.

She said Bergen told her that if she would stick to the story she told police at the time of her arrest that "everything would be all right and that everybody would know it was an accident."

Judge Gusweiler, after hearing the statement, said he could see nothing to alter the verdict which he declared "in my opinion was based on the evidence and the law."

Booster Drive Set Tomorrow

The Circleville Booster Club's drive for commercial membership, a prime move to aid in purchasing new uniforms for the CHS football team, starts here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

Boosters and Circleville coaches and players will take part in the fund raising project. Plans call for visits to all local business establishments in an effort to gain financial aid and stronger fan backing.

The visiting groups will explain yearly Booster activities and explain the important part the club plays in the local sports scene.

The new grid uniforms will cost about $150. The Booster Club has agreed to make an all-out effort to obtain funds for the purchase.

Southern Schools in Critical Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another critical period is at hand for the school children of the South where federal integration regulations sometimes clash sharply with traditional patterns and state laws.

The youngsters are about to start the fall term—the sixth since the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing segregation in the nation's public schools.

Some children already are attending classes in an atmosphere marked by less tension than in the past. Other thousands are preparing to resume their educations.

A half-dozen schools are expected to be desegregated for the first time. Four Negroes have been assigned to the Orchard Villa School in Miami and if they attend classes Sept. 8 it will mark the start of integration at the public school level in Florida.

Other initial desegregation attempts will occur in states which now have at least token integration in some cities. Elsewhere legal battles are continuing and court rulings may take effect at later dates.

There is no indication what will happen in the next few days. But the reopening of the public high schools in Little Rock, Ark., and the end of Virginia's massive resistance have had an appreciable effect.

The voice of the moderate has been heard more often in recent months. Some citizens have formed organizations designed to keep the public schools open even if it means token integration.

Integration advances generally have occurred in the upper and middle South. The five Deep South states of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina have permitted no public school integration.

The number of Negroes in desegregated situations has gone up from 256,020 in March 1955, to 447,

X-15 Flight Delayed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A fuel leak delayed takeoff today of an X15 rocket plane scheduled for its first power flight.

The Air Force said a hydrogen leak in the fuel system made it necessary to set back the flight.

Takeoff originally was set for 7 a.m., but subsequent delays held the ship earthbound hours later.

Authorities hope the flight will be a major milestone in the X15's way to space. It is designed ultimately to rocket a man 100 miles or more above the earth at nearly 4,000 miles an hour.

The X15 was scheduled to take off from this desert test center 100 miles north of Los Angeles, fastened under the wing of its mother ship. Original takeoff time was 7 a.m. but the schedule was set back by serving troubles.

Crossfield was to cut loose from the B52 at 38,000 feet and fly the X15 to about 50,000 feet on its own power.

All three ships are identical, however, and Crossfield is confident No. 2 will work as well as the No. 1 craft did on its powerful glide flight June 8.

This flight is a test of the 50-foot black plane's first powerplant, a set of two low-thrust rocket engines. Later this year a single-chamber engine three times as powerful will replace them.

The whole procedure, from B52 take-off to X15 landing, should take about 45 minutes.

The X15s are made by North American Aviation, Inc., under contract to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Crossfield, a test pilot for North American, has been at the controls in all tests so far.

Indian Post Taken by Reds

Nehru Irked By China Commies

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today that Chinese Communist troops have crossed from Tibet into Indian territory on two widely separated frontiers and apparently are staying.

In India's northeast frontier area, Nehru told Parliament, several hundred Chinese apparently seized an Indian border post this week after driving off a 12-man picket detachment with gunfire. Nehru said four border guards are missing.

Nehru said the Chinese had established a camp in a remote, uninhabited border sector of the Ladakh area of Kashmir, more than 1,000 miles west of the crossings on the northeast frontier. The Chinese also are reported building a road across the area, cutting off several hundred square miles of Indian territory.

Nehru said the Chinese moved into the Ladakh region in October 1957. The Indian reconnaissance party was sent into the region at the end of last month.

There was no indication in Nehru's statement why he waited so long before acting.

He said India had protested to Peiping but so far had no satisfaction.

"There is no alternative but to guard our borders and integrity," he declared. "We will have to be vigilant."

Nehru made no announcement, however, of military counteraction.

On the mountainous northeast frontier, Nehru said, the Chinese crossed into India from Tibet on Aug. 25 and fired on a picket post in the Kameng section. He said the Reds returned on Aug. 26, opened fire again, and practically encircled the border post.

The Indian border patrol withdrew, Nehru continued, and the Chinese are presumed to be still holding the position.

India protested to Peiping, and the Chinese reply, received as Nehru sat in Parliament, claimed the Indians on Aug. 25 fired first and the Chinese shot back in self-defense. Peiping said it knew nothing about the border crossing the next day.

"I give credence to our own reports," Nehru said as the deputies cheered in approval. "All circumstantial evidence supports our view. I believe it is true."

Earlier in the session Nehru said the Chinese were forcibly holding Indian territory in the Ladakh sector of Kashmir, on the northwest border between India and Tibet. He said the Chinese had established a camp at Spang rug, well within Indian territory, and had arrested a reconnaissance party which had been sent to investigate.

The Chinese released the reconnaissance group consisting of one officer and five enlisted men but Peiping asserted the territory was Chinese, the prime minister said. Several newspapers in recent weeks have reported various crossings by Chinese troops into India along the mountainous border of Kashmir and also in the northeast frontier area, in the Indian state of Assam. There also have been reports of Chinese claims to these northern areas bordering on Tibet, as well as to Nepal and the protectorates of Bhutan and Sikkim, which lie between Kashmir and Assam.

The Times of India reported today that Red forces had pushed back several border patrols along the northeast frontier and said in at least one instance there was believed to have been an exchange of gunfire.

Earlier this week the Times reported the Chinese had built a road in the Ladakh area, cutting off several hundred square miles of Indian territory.

Elegant Ruler Greets Ike at Castle Gates

Warm Reception Given Chief in England, Scotland

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower broke into his diplomatic mission to Western Europe today with a social visit to Britain's royal family at Balmoral Castle. Queen Elizabeth I made a completely unexpected appearance to the gates to welcome him.

"Well, well, I'm delighted to see you," said the Queen, slim and elegant though she is expecting her third child early next year. Eisenhower bowed and said: "Thank you ma'am. It's wonderful to be here."

It was a friendly and informal beginning for Eisenhower's overnight visit.

Surprisingly, the Queen not only came out to see Eisenhower but did it on television.

The President had driven 50 miles with Prince Philip in a car from the airport at Dyce to cheers of crowds along the way.

The Queen—who danced until the early hours this morning at a castle ball for her servants—presented the President to Princess Margaret.

The Queen wore a powder blue suit with skirt jacket. Her skirt snugly hugged her hips.

The Queen—whose baby is expected in late January or February—certainly showed no physical signs of it. With Eisenhower, she inspected the royal bodyguard, Royal Highland Fusiliers.

Then together with Prince Philip, they took the palace car from the gateway for the half-mile drive to the gloomy old castle built amid these melancholy moors by Queen Victoria.

The President flew up from London in a Royal Air Force jetliner to Dyce Airport near Aberdeen, then drove 50 miles through the Deeside country with Prince Philip, the Queen's husband.

The Queen and Princess Margaret arrived at the castle gates a few minutes before Philip and the President drew up in their black limousine.

Cheers went up from about 100 spectators, most of them members of the castle staff, a few from nearby villages.

The President then entered a royal car with the Queen, her husband and Margaret, and the party was driven into the castle. Eisenhower has known Elizabeth since she was a teen-age princess, and the visit is a private one, with the arrival ceremony the only public event.

Eisenhower got a taste of real Scots weather on his arrival at Dyce Airport. It was cold and windy, and rain started pelting down as the presidential plane taxied up to the arrival strip.

A crowd of 500 Scots, wrapped in topcoats and mufflers, sent up a big cheer as the President walked down the steps from the plane.

Eisenhower gave Philip—his guest twice in Washington—a firm handshake and patted him warmly on the elbow. The prince smiled broadly.

He and Philip got into the waiting limousine for the 50-mile drive to Balmoral Castle, where the Queen and her family are spending their annual vacation in the Scottish highlands.

Eisenhower flies back to London Saturday, then drives to Chequers, the country home of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, for a weekend of talks about the President's approaching exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower got an early start today, leaving U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney's Regents Park residence at 7:50 a.m. Macmillan made the 16½-mile drive to the airport with him. Hundreds of Britons going to work cheered the motorcade.

The first four notes of Eisenhower's visit sounded as he and Macmillan left Whitney's residence.

A loudspeaker truck barked outside the gates suddenly blared: "The Empire Loyalists ask why Harold Macmillan has invited to London the great victor of Suez. Why has Macmillan placed us

State Fair Opens Today

Nearly 300,000 To Visit Grounds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's biggest show, the State Fair, opened at 6 a. m. today with the agriculture director snipping the ribbon to start the eight-day exposition.

Mrs. John Gehring of Powell in Delaware County was the first paid admission, and on hand to greet her was Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune. He presented her an Ohio state flag.

Throng of fair goers, officials hope, will pour through the gates during the next eight days.

DiSalle Credits Circleville For Miss Ohio's Beauty

Ohio Governor Michael V. DiSalle today credited Miss Ohio Queen Carole Weiler's beauty and success as a reflection of the friendly and scenic little community of Circleville.

Governor DiSalle's remarks were in answer to a question by radio and television personality, Bert Parks, who will act as on-stage master of ceremonies during the CBS broadcast of the Miss America Pageant on September 12 in Atlantic City, N. J.

Parks asked DiSalle what it was about Ohio that would endow a young girl with special qualities for possibly emerging in person and on the television screen as the next Miss America.

DiSalle was quoted as saying that Ohio just seems to be blessed with its fair share of the country's beautiful women.

HE SAID HE COULD not help but feel that Miss Weiler's beauty, charm and personality were only a reflection upon Circleville.

He continued saying, "We are very proud to have Carole as a representative of our State as she is a true example of Ohio's beautiful girls and the judges could not have chosen a prettier young lady."

"We know she will be competing among many other girls who possess the same pleasing qualities. We have high hopes for her and are wishing her every success for gaining the coveted title of 'Miss America-1959'."

Miss Weiler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Weiler, 204 N. Pickaway St. She was named Miss Ohio several weeks ago in Mansfield where she competed with 18 other beauties from over the state.

Carole is a sophomore in Ohio State University's School of Nursing. She is a graduate of Circleville High School. Carole will leave September 5 for Atlantic City to compete in the Miss America finals.

Smoking Mine Scares Chauncey

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Residents of nearby Chauncey got quite a scare Thursday night as smoke began pouring from a coal mine there.

A foreman sounded the alarm that sent fire crews into the mine. There was no fire, however. A frayed electric wire was rubbing against a wooden airlock door, sending forth the smoke.

Frank Smith, a pumper, was the only man in the mine at the time. He reported he was in a clear area and could not see the smoke.

Steel Strike Talks Recess For Five Days

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations in the nationwide steel strike are in recess so that leaders of both sides can think things over for a few days.

When the talks start up again Wednesday, the strike of a half million workers will be 50 days old.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, announced the recess after a bargaining session Thursday.

He said top negotiators for the industry and the striking United Steelworkers Union of America told him that "it is their joint opinion that time for additional work by the respective parties is required in order for them to evaluate and restudy their positions."

A joint statement by Union President David J. McDonald and R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said: "The parties have reached a point where a temporary adjournment appears to be necessary. After many weeks of continuous discussion, both parties need to devote time with their own associates to review the problems that have been considered and to assess efforts to date."

The Indian border patrol withdrew, Nehru continued, and the Chinese are presumed to be still holding the position.

India protested to Peiping, and the Chinese reply, received as Nehru sat in Parliament, claimed the Indians on Aug. 25 fired first and the Chinese shot back in self-defense. Peiping said it knew nothing about the border crossing the next day.

"I give credence to our own reports," Nehru said as the deputies cheered in approval. "All circumstantial evidence supports our view. I believe it is true."

Earlier in the session Nehru said the Chinese were forcibly holding Indian territory in the Ladakh sector of Kashmir, on the northwest border between India and Tibet. He said the Chinese had established a camp at Spangur, well within Indian territory, and had arrested a reconnaissance party which had been sent to investigate.

The Chinese re-based the reconnaissance group consisting of one officer and five enlisted men but Peiping asserted the territory was Chinese, the prime minister said. Several newspapers in recent weeks have reported various crossings by Chinese troops into India along the mountainous border of Kashmir and also in the northeast frontier area, in the Indian state of Assam. There also have been reports of Chinese claims to these northern areas bordering on Tibet, as well as to Nepal and the protectorates of Bhutan and Sikkim, which lie between Kashmir and Assam.

The Times of India reported today that Red forces had pushed back several border patrols along the northeast frontier and said in at least one instance there was believed to have been an exchange of gunfire.

Earlier this week the Times reported the Chinese had built a road in the Ladakh area, cutting off several hundred square miles of Indian territory.

A new school is expected to be integrated at Burk Burnett, Tex., when it opens later this fall. The school will be on federal property and will serve a new housing project for Sheperd Air Force Base.

At Front Royal, Va., the opening of all Warren County public schools has been postponed from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8.

Three hundred and seventy-seven white pupils and 18 Negroes have registered for enrollment at integration-troubled Warren County High.

In North Carolina, two Negro girls have been admitted to classes beginning Tuesday at High Point. In addition 17 Negro children of personnel at Cherry Point Marine Air Station have been accepted at white elementary schools in the Havelock School District at New Bern.

The school board at Charlottesville in central Virginia has assigned nine Negroes to an elementary school and two to a high school there. Classes begin Sept. 8.

The Southern Regional Council, an organization working for improvement in race relations, reported recently that with the exception of Texas, only 206 Negroes were in attendance with white pupils during the past year in 11 Southern states. In Texas, an estimated 3,250 Negroes were in desegregated classes.

The Orchard Villa School at Miami heads the public schools where initial desegregation may take place shortly.

A second public high school already has been integrated at Little Rock and the Dollarway School District near Pine Bluff, Ark., has been ordered to desegregate. The Dollarway case may be considered Monday by an appellate court at St. Louis.

Indian Post Taken by Reds

Nehru Irked By China Commies

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today that Chinese Communist troops have crossed from Tibet into Indian territory on two widely separated frontiers and apparently are staying.

In India's northeast frontier area, Nehru told Parliament, several hundred Chinese apparently seized an Indian border post this week after driving off a 12-man picket detachment with gunfire. Nehru said four border guards are missing.

Nehru said the Chinese also had established a camp in a remote, uninhabited border sector of the Ladakh area of Kashmir, more than 1,000 miles west of the crossings on the northeast frontier. The Chinese also are reported building a road across the area, cutting off several hundred square miles of Indian territory.

Nehru said the Chinese moved into the Ladakh region in October 1957. The Indian reconnaissance party was sent into the region at the end of last month.

There was no indication in Nehru's statement why he waited so long before acting.

He said India had protested to Peiping but so far had no satisfaction.

"There is no alternative but to guard our borders and integrity," he declared. "We will have to be vigilant."

Nehru made no announcement, however, of military counteraction.

On the mountainous northeast frontier, Nehru said, the Chinese crossed into India from Tibet on Aug. 25 and fired on a picket post in the Kameng section. He said the Reds returned on Aug. 26, opened fire again, and practically encircled the border post.

The Indian border patrol withdrew, Nehru continued, and the Chinese are presumed to be still holding the position.

India protested to Peiping, and the Chinese reply, received as Nehru sat in Parliament, claimed the Indians on Aug. 25 fired first and the Chinese shot back in self-defense. Peiping said it knew nothing about the border crossing the next day.

"I give credence to our own reports," Nehru said as the deputies cheered in approval. "All circumstantial evidence supports our view. I believe it is true."

Earlier in the session Nehru said the Chinese were forcibly holding Indian territory in the Ladakh sector of Kashmir, on the northwest border between India and Tibet. He said the Chinese had established a camp at Spangur, well within Indian territory, and had arrested a reconnaissance party which had been sent to investigate.

Elegant Ruler Greets Ike at Castle Gates

Warm Reception Given Chief in England, Scotland

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower broke into his diplomatic mission to Western Europe today with a social visit to Britain's royal family at Balmoral Castle. Queen Elizabeth I made a completely unexpected appearance to the gates to welcome him.

"Well, well, I'm delighted to see you," said the Queen, slim and elegant though she is expecting her third child early next year. Eisenhower bowed and said: "Thank you ma'am. It's wonderful to be here."

It was a friendly and informal beginning for Eisenhower's overnight visit.

Surprisingly, the Queen not only came out to see Eisenhower but did it on television.

The President had driven 50 miles with Prince Philip in a car from the airport at Dyce to cheers of crowds along the way.

The Queen—who danced until the early hours this morning at a castle ball for her servants—presented the President to Princess Margaret.

The Queen wore a powder blue suit with skirt jacket. Her skirt snugly hugged her hips.

The Queen—who whose baby is expected in late January or February—certainly showed no physical signs of it. With Eisenhower, she inspected the royal bodyguard, Royal Highland Fusiliers.

Then together with Prince Philip, they took the palace car from the gateway for the half-mile drive to the gloomy old castle built amid these melancholy moors by Queen Victoria.

The President flew up from London in a Royal Air Force jetliner to Dyce Airport near Aberdeen, then drove 50 miles through the Deeside country with Prince Philip, the Queen's husband.

The Queen and Princess Margaret arrived at the castle gates a few minutes before Philip and the President drew up in their black limousine.

Cheers went up from about 100 spectators, most of them members of the castle staff, a few from nearby villages.

The President then entered a royal car with the Queen, her husband and Margaret, and the party was driven into the castle. Eisenhower has known Elizabeth since she was a teenage princess, and the visit is a private one, with the arrival ceremony the only public event.

Eisenhower got a taste of real Scots weather on his arrival at Dyce Airport. It was cold and windy, and rain started pelting down as the presidential plane taxied up to the arrival strip.

A crowd of 500 Scots, wrapped in topcoats and mufflers, sent up a big cheer as the President walked down the steps from the plane.

Eisenhower gave Philip—his guest twice in Washington—a firm handshake and patted him warmly on the elbow. The prince smiled broadly.

He and Philip got into the waiting limousine for the 50-mile drive to Balmoral Castle, where the Queen and her family are spending their annual vacation in the Scottish highlands.

Eisenhower flies back to London Saturday, then drives to Chequers, the country home of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, for a weekend of talks about the President's approaching exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower got an early start today, leaving U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney's Regents Park residence at 7:50 a. m. Macmillan made the 16½-mile drive to the airport with him. Hundreds of Britons going to work cheered the motorcade.

The first sour notes of Eisenhower's visit sounded as he and Macmillan left Whitney's residence. A loudspeaker truck worked outside the gates suddenly blared: "The Empire Loyalists ask why Harold Macmillan has invited to London the great victor of Suez. Why has Macmillan placed us

Kenneth L. Taylor, 22, Lancaster, appeared in Circleville Municipal Court today on two accusations. One of the charges was indecent exposure.

The other count against Taylor was for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicants.

According to testimony, Taylor came to the house saying he wanted to see the occupant.

JUDGE Sterling M. Lamb imposed a stiff sentence, ordering a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days in jail. Taylor pleaded innocent.

The accused also was fined $125 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. He was cited on this charge by the sheriff's department.

The League of British Empire Loyalists is an organization of Britain-firsters who feel their country should rely more on its Commonwealth partners and less on the United States. With many other Britons, it feels that U.S. pressure forced the halt in the British-French attack on the Suez in 1957, when Sir Anthony Eden was prime minister.

But this was nothing compared with the warm and stirring welcome that a half million Britons gave the President Thursday night as he drove into the city after his arrival from Bonn. It was the biggest ovation Britain's capital has seen since the Queen's coronations.

Kiwanis Hears Guidance Head

Richard Snouffer, Circleville High School assistant principal and guidance head, Monday spoke before the Circleville Kiwanis Club on "What is Guidance."

The second-year high school instructor outlined several points of the new program in the local secondary school.

He said guidance training channels individuals into vocations they will be happy in. It discourages misfits. The course stimulates individuals into looking into various jobs and to make self analysis.

The training orients pupils in becoming acquainted with school programs and what the school expects from them. It counsels students, person to person.

IT OFFERS PLACEMENT possibilities and follows up students' activities after they leave school. He said the program helps students live up to their potential.

He said guidance was needed because some children are not guided at home. The Capital University graduate stated that classrooms are not large enough for guidance work.

Snouffer said some teenagers will not talk with their parents about many things, but will talk to guidance counselors. He concluded relating that the teenage period is a difficult time for young people.

Man Sentenced For Exposure

Kenneth L. Taylor, 22, Lancaster, appeared in Circleville Municipal Court today on two accusations. One of the charges was indecent exposure.

The other count against Taylor was for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicants.

The indecent exposure charge was filed by the mother of a 15-year-old girl. The affidavit stated that the act was committed at a home where the girl was babysitting.

According to testimony, Taylor came to the house saying he wanted to see the occupant.

JUDGE Sterling M. Lamb imposed a stiff sentence, ordering a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days in jail. Taylor pleaded innocent.

The accused also was fined $125 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. He was cited on this charge by the sheriff's department.

The League of British Empire Loyalists is an organization of Britain-firsters who feel their country should rely more on its Commonwealth partners and less on the United States. With many other Britons, it feels that U.S. pressure forced the halt in the British-French attack on the Suez in 1957, when Sir Anthony Eden was prime minister.

But this was nothing compared with the warm and stirring welcome that a half million Britons gave the President Thursday night as he drove into the city after his arrival from Bonn. It was the biggest ovation Britain's capital has seen since the Queen's coronations.

Kiwanis Hears Guidance Head

Richard Snouffer, Circleville High School assistant principal and guidance head, Monday spoke before the Circleville Kiwanis Club on "What is Guidance."

The second-year high school instructor outlined several points of the new program in the local secondary school.

He said guidance training channels individuals into vocations they will be happy in. It discourages misfits. The course stimulates individuals into looking into various jobs and to make self analysis.

The training orients pupils in becoming acquainted with school programs and what the school expects from them. It counsels students, person to person.

IT OFFERS PLACEMENT possibilities and follows up students' activities after they leave school. He said the program helps students live up to their potential.

He said guidance was needed because some children are not guided at home. The Capital University graduate stated that classrooms are not large enough for guidance work.

Snouffer said some teenagers will not talk with their parents about many things, but will talk to guidance counselors. He concluded relating that the teenage period is a difficult time for young people.

A New Spirit for a Renewed People

THE PROPHET, JOEL, PROPHECIES DISASTER FOR ISRAEL, BUT A FINAL BLESSING OF GOD FOR JUDAH

Scripture—Joel.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE BOOK of Joel begins with the prophet's warning of disasters to come, but promises future blessings if the children of Israel will return to the Lord and worship only Him.

A plague of locusts is the first of these, worse to descend upon the nation's crops, devouring every bit of the precious grain on which the people depended for food.

"The field is wasted, the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted: the new wine is dried up, the oil languisheth."—Joel 1:10.

Joel called for a time of fasting and humility. "Sanctify ye a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord."—Joel 1:13-14.

The beasts of the field also suffered from this terrible drought. They "cry also unto Thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pasture of the wilderness."—Joel 1:20.

"Therefore also now, saith the Lord, turn ye even unto Me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning: And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth Him of the evil."—Joel 2:12-13.

"Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch of the temple, and the altar, and let them say, Spare the people, O Lord, and give not Thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them: wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?"

"Then will the Lord be jealous for His land, and pity His people. Yes, the Lord will answer and say unto His people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied there with: and I will no more make

MEMORY VERSE

"Fear not, O land: be glad and rejoice: for the Lord will do great things."—Joel 2:21.

April, respectively. The "former rain" moistens the earth and fits it to receive the seeds which are sown shortly afterwards; the "latter rain" is important for giving fullness and strength to the ripening crops; if either fails, the ensuing harvest is seriously damaged." This quotation is from Peloubet's Select Notes, by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, editor and commentator.

The younger classes might discuss briefly the subject of personal character in those they know in school or in life generally. A person of sterling character is a good associate or employee in any field.

The older children might give their views on the future of our troubled and changing world; the possible futures of many disturbed countries.

Have faith in God and keep close to Him and to His Son, Jesus Christ. Take your worries to them in prayer, and seek their guidance, and you cannot go wrong.

Woman, 54, Doomed Since 1923, Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Another member of the so-called "Society of the Living Dead"—that doomed group of women who in the 1920s painted radium on watch dials—is dead.

Beatrice Workman, 54, of suburban Park Ridge died Tuesday. An autopsy Wednesday showed death was from radium poisoning. Her husband, Thomas, 57, told newsmen his wife had suffered from effects of the radium poisoning for 30 years.

Before her marriage in 1923, Mrs. Workman was one of a group of girls working at the Radium Dial Co. in Ottawa, Ill. It was their job to paint the numbers on watch faces with radium, so the dial would glow in the dark.

To keep the brushes pointed, the girls often licked the brush with their tongues before dipping it in a radium salt solution.

The first half rate compared with 289 million tons produced in 1958—a recession year—and a record of 316 million in 1957. These figures do not include production in Communist China and North Korea.

U.S. steel production rose by 26 1/4 million tons in the first half to 64,300,000 tons.

Russian output also was up sharply, 2 1/2 million tons from 32,300,000.

women in similar jobs throughout the country also fell victim to the poisoning.

More than a dozen of the Ottawa group later sued for damages. The only one to win—Catherine Donohue—was dead before she could collect the $7,500 awarded her.

A year and a half ago, Workman said, his wife entered a hospital where a bone marrow sample indicated the presence of radium salts. She remained in the hospital until her death.

A New Spirit for a Renewed People

THE PROPHET, JOEL, PROPHESES DISASTER FOR ISRAEL, BUT A FINAL BLESSING OF GOD FOR JUDAH

Scripture—Joel.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE BOOK of Joel begins with the prophet's warning of disaster to come, but promises future blessings if the children of Israel will return to the Lord and worship only Him.

A plague of locusts is the first of these woes to descend upon the nation's crops, devouring every bit of the precious grain on which the people depended for food.

"The field is wasted, the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted; the new wine is dried up, the oil languisheth,"—Joel 1:10.

Joel called for a time of fasting and humility. "Sanctify ye a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord,"—Joel 1:13-14.

The beasts of the field also suffered from this terrible drought. They "cry also unto thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pasture of the wilderness,"—Joel 1:20.

"Therefore also now, saith the Lord, turn ye even unto Me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning; And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth Him of the evil,"—Joel 2:12-13.

"Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch (of the temples) and the altar, and let them say, Spare the people, O Lord, and give not Thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them: wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?"

"Then will the Lord be jealous for His land, and pity His people. Yes, the Lord will answer and say unto His people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied there- with: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen,"—Joel 2:17-18.

"Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the Lord will do great things. Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig tree and the vine do yield their strength,"—Joel 2:21-22.

"Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God; for He hath given you the former rain moderately, and He will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month. And the floors shall be full of wheat, and the fats shall overflow with wine and oil. . . . And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you,"—Joel 2:23-26.

"The former and latter rain were the rains which marked respectively the beginning and the close of the wet season, coming in October, November, March and

MEMORY VERSE

April, respectively. The "former rain" moistens the earth and fits it to receive the seeds which are sown shortly afterwards; the "latter rain" is important for giving fullness and strength to the ripening crops; if either falls, the ensuing harvest is seriously damaged." This quotation is from Peloubet's Select Notes, by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, editor and commentator. The younger classes might discuss briefly the subject of personal character in those they know in school or in life generally. A person of sterling character is a good associate or employee in any field. The older children might give their views on the future of our troubled and changing world; the possible futures of many disturbed countries.

Have faith in God and keep close to Him and to His Son, Jesus Christ. Take your worries to them in prayer, and seek Their guidance, and you cannot go wrong.

Stupormarkets of the Future

Leave it to the ladies and the supermarket of the future may no more resemble its present format than it now resembles the familiar corner grocery store, according to a survey taken by an eastern research institute for a food market chain. In fact, if all the suggestions by female shoppers were eventually adopted, the inside of a shopping center would more closely resemble a cross between Times Square and a gigantic automat.

It would be completely automated with self-propelling carts in which the shopper rides and plucks items off the shelves as she whizzes by, a complete push-button directory which accumulates the grocery list on a conveyor and transports it via a chute right into the car for the more indolent shoppers. And there would be a fully automatic telephone service to record the shopping list on tape, which would then be fed through mechanical marvels to collect the order in a box ready for delivery.

Pity the poor male who might be struck with the family shopping and found himself in the midst of a traffic congestion at the corner of tomato juice alley and stocking counter, when all he wanted was a package of cinnamon buns.

In the confusion of trying to dodge the ladies zig-zagging back and forth across the aisle from soap suds to face creams, he might accidentally push the automatic loading button and find himself being transported, along with the bananas and onions, across a maze of conveyors into the trunk of his car. No male could possibly cope with the mechanical gadgets which could be born in a feminine mentality.

Various types of automation were not the only recommendations of milady for the emporium of the future. There is, believe it or not, a pining for the friendly voice and helping hand of the corner grocer. The ladies like the personal touch of across-the-counter buying, and express particular displeasure at having to wait in check-out lines to pay the bill. Perhaps there is yet a chance that jet-propelled grocery carts and automated conveyors will not completely obliterate the sight of human beings in stores of the future.

After all, there is nothing warm and friendly about having a mechanical robot squash the tomatoes and then hold one up by the scruff of the neck until it extracts the money from her handbag. Such goings on might actually ignite the spark of revolution against the wonderful age of automation.

Books Best Sleep-Producers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The late W. C. Fields had the only perfect cure for insomnia.

"Get more sleep," he advised. Nothing promotes good sound sleep better than a good sound—but dull—book.

Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of health education for the American Medical Assn., pointed this out in a recent article on insomnia.

"If everything else fails," he advised, "there is nothing better to induce sleep than an educational book which you feel you ought to read but don't want to."

But what are the best books for sleeping? With some 11,000 new books being published yearly, America's leaper fodder is increasing by leaps and bounds. It may be necessary soon to put out a book on how to stay awake.

With literally hundreds of old and new favorite literary snore-starters to choose from, here is one man's list of a dozen tested books guaranteed to improve your mind—by putting it to sleep.

1. "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," by Edward Gibbon. This all-time champion has put more people to sleep than anything except the discovery of ether.

2. "War and Peace," by Tolstoi. Fine for a dose anywhere after the first page.

3. "Paradise Lost," by John Milton. Beware of reading this one backward. It's too exciting that way.

4. Any novel by Henry James or George Eliot.

5. Dr. Spock's book on child care. Recommended for bachelors.

6. "Remembrance of Things Past," by Marcel Proust. As lulling as if you were paddling a canoe with a wet piece of spaghetti in a lily pond in mid-July.

7. "Finnegans Wake," by James Joyce. Doesn't make sense but will make you insensible.

8. "The Fable," by William Faulkner.

9. "Collected Speeches," by William McKinley.

10. "Alice in Wonderland," by Lewis Carroll. No normal child ever waded through it except under compulsion.

11. "The Life of Peter Rabbit." For people who read with their lips. By the time you say 'hip-pety-hip-pety-hop' 812 times, your lips are so tired you nod off.

12. Any how-to-do-it book on how to stop smoking, stop drinking—or start living. Best of field: "Wake up and Live."

At the risk of winning new enemies and alienating old friends, I could add a few alternate personal choices. They would include the memoirs of most World War II generals, much of the poetry of Walt Whitman and Carl Sandburg, "Das Kapital" by Karl Marx, and the headtr bits from Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

But when it comes to literary dullness, to each his own.

Teach Them To Think Sharply

By George Sokolsky

The conversation throughout the land concerning education becomes louder, probably because few are satisfied with what is being accomplished in the United States. Bigness is not the answer. Everybody going to school, to high school, to college, is not the answer. Mere attendance is not evidence of study.

Millicent C. McIntosh, president of Barnard College, said of this recently: "Never before in the long history of man's emergence from the mists of superstition and ignorance has unlimited opportunity for knowledge been available to everyone. But we have become drunk with our vision and have misused this powerful tool. Our schools have often confused equality of opportunity with identity of experience. The result has been the problem so clearly brought into focus by the scientific achievements of the Russians: a huge school and college population with many young people of ability who have been given an inadequate education."

The term, equality of opportunity, is confusing because it fails to recognize that not all human beings are equally equipped to meet identical opportunities. Thomas Edison, for instance, was what we would today call underprivileged. He never received a B.A. or a B.S., to say nothing of an M.A. or a Ph.D. He was just Tom Edison, candy butcher on a railroad. But he developed into the greatest mind of his time to apply electrical theory to practical ends. He laid the foundation for innumerable great industries providing benefits to mankind.

Today, Tom Edison could not get a job. What were his qualifications? What college did he go to? What were his marks? Was he in the upper 10 per cent of his class? Did he make Phi Beta Kappa?

The answer to each one of these questions is negative!

Or take Henry Ford. He had practically no education at all. His ideas concerning history were juvenile even in his mature years, but Henry Ford was an original engineer, a brilliant salesman, a masterly administrator and a competent financier. Certainly he enjoyed no equality of opportunity; he made his own opportunities. He created his own opportunities.

One might take a current example from one of those whom the sociologists would today regard as underprivileged, General David Sarnoff, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America. If General Sarnoff were a rich man, I would not regard him as important, because riches are sometimes accidentally accumulated and do not always represent intelligence. Also they often represent an element of luck which does not reflect ability or character.

But Sarnoff became a telegrapher for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company when it was a small enterprise. He happened to be on duty when the "Titanic" disaster occurred and he worked through day and night introducing radio to the world. The S.O.S. from the "Titanic" startled mankind. So Sarnoff had his day in the news. For many a man that would have been the end. But in due course, General Electric took over that service and Owen D. Young realized that in Sarnoff he had a man of extraordinary resources. When the Radio Corporation of America was organized, Sarnoff was included, eventually becoming the company's president and now its chairman.

But this still is not important. Such strokes of opportunity come to many men. What is different here is the development of radio and television into what used to be called the Red and Blue Networks and are now the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting Company. No one man is responsible for all that has happened in these and related fields, but Sarnoff has been the leader in the field throughout its history. He has also served his country in wartime in the vast field of electronics.

The three men I chose among hundreds to write about could not get jobs today in the fields in which they became leaders because they had not the requirements which are now regarded as essential yet which may not represent more than attendance at an educational institution. On the other hand, the colleges complain, as President McIntosh complains, that they are turning out uneducated persons who have equality of opportunity but surely not equality of intelligence.

And that is the problem that American education faces: it is not enough to attend a college; it is not enough even to get a B average or even an A average. What is essential is to stimulate intellectual initiative. The real task is to re-teach our people to think sharply, shrewdly, originally. This must come if our particular form of government is to survive.

"You can't stay here—what would people say?"

Facts about Fat Persons

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You can be overweight and still not be obese.

As a matter of fact, about 20 per cent of our adult population is overweight, yet only 7 per cent is obese.

Obesity is a condition in which a person's weight is at least 20 per cent above normal. Which, of course, brings up the question of just what is a person's normal weight. And that really is a tough one to answer.

Many doctors say that your ideal weight is what you weighed at the age of 25.

Yet the Health Insurance Institute reported a while back that the average individual can expect his weight to increase from two to four pounds every five years up to the age of 60.

In other words, a man who weighed 150 pounds at the age of 25 could expect to weigh 164 pounds at the age of 34, about 160 at 45 and approximately 163 pounds at 60.

According to the Institute, this gain of 13 pounds does not represent overweight.

Nor do height and weight charts always agree, either.

There is a scientific method which uses specific gravity and skinfold measurements to estimate excess subcutaneous fat. But this is much too complicated to discuss here.

So how can you tell if you are overweight?

Just look at yourself in the mirror. If you have two or three chins, the answer as a rule is pretty obvious. And if the girth around your abdomen exceeds that of your chest (unexpanded) then you had better start shedding a few pounds.

The pinch test is a quick way of helping to solve the riddle of your middle.

Grasp the flesh just above your waist between your thumb and forefinger. Do it while you are standing, not while sitting. If you can pinch more than one inch of flesh, it's a pretty good bet that you may be getting too fat.

You women can don girdles and you can tighten your belts. You might be able to hide that paunch, but you are merely fooling yourself as well as others.

Let's face it: It's food, not clothes, that really makes the man—or woman.

Question and Answer
Mrs. M. A. W.: My son, 7, is very tall for his age.

Is there any harmless way to check his growth?

Answer: Unless some abnormality is found by your doctor, no effort should be made to check the boy's growth. Growth usually occurs in spurts and your son may slow down at any time.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—As President Eisenhower began slogging through the dismal swamp of international relations today, mankind followed in his steps, hoping that somehow he could lead the way to a sunlit beach.

No one knows better than he the task before him: somehow working out with West Europe's leaders and later with Premier Nikita Khrushchev some solution to what has divided the world into two armed camps, hissing at each other.

It may be an impossible task for him—or anyone else—at this moment in history. No wonder he has tried hard not to raise false hopes about his efforts.

His reception Wednesday in Germany, where once he entered as a conqueror but now as an ally, was perhaps the greatest in his career. It was testimony to the high and warm regard in which Europe and perhaps even the Soviet Union still holds him.

But there was more than regard in the cheers which Eisenhower himself called "overwhelming and magnificent." There was hope that he might produce the key to the icebox in which the cold war has kept the world for 14 years.

To himself Eisenhower was probably saying: "I hope they are right."

He can remember another journey made by another president, Woodrow Wilson, years ago, and the thunderous, almost frenzied, greeting given him when he landed in Europe after World War I.

The Europeans looked to Wilson as the man of good will who would fashion a peace which would let all other men sleep quietly at night for generations.

But it became a dismal peace, hardly more than a breathing spell for regrouping before the next war. He lived long enough to die disillusioned. By then the Europeans were disillusioned, too.

The forces Wilson had to contend with—at home and abroad—were too much for him. He was idealistic. They weren't. If today Europe looks more idealistic, it may be an optical illusion.

The same force at work there today—nationalism—frustrated Wilson. If Europe sounds more willing for peace it is because of the realism forced upon it by the new weapons which might mean annihilation in a third war.

The United States is nationalistic, too. So is the Soviet Union. So is Red China. So are the satellites. The world hasn't passed out of its era of nationalism—yet. Eisenhower knows that, too.

So in talking with West Europe's leaders, America's allies, Eisenhower is talking with men who may have a sincere dedication to peace but each of whom is thinking in terms of his own country first.

Eisenhower has to think that way, too. So does Khrushchev.

Europe, and maybe even the U.S.S.R., looks upon Eisenhower as a man of good will.

But there are differences among the Allies, which he will try to bridge over. He must pledge them he will make no secret deals with Khrushchev.

If he and Khrushchev ever do agree on answers that might melt the cold war, they won't have much meaning unless the allies with whom Eisenhower is talking now can submerge their own nationalism long enough to approve, too.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The American Bar Assn.'s stand against photography in the courtroom comes up for consideration today at the legal group's 82nd annual convention.

A special committee was to report on its first year of work aimed at a possible modification of the stand.

The ABA, in Canon 35 of its code of ethics, advises judges not to permit picture-making in the courtroom on grounds it would detract from the dignity of the proceedings.

Television newsmen and press photographers have tried repeatedly to persuade the lawyers to modify the canon. The cameramen contend that modern photography techniques would in no way harm the dignity of the court.

Stupormarkets of the Future

Leave it to the ladies and the supermarket of the future may no more resemble its present format than it now resembles the familiar corner grocery store, according to a survey taken by an eastern research institute for a food market chain. In fact, if all the suggestions by female shoppers were eventually adopted, the inside of a shopping center would more closely resemble a cross between Times Square and a gigantic automat.

It would be completely automated with self-propelling carts in which the shopper rides and plucks items off the shelves as she whizzes by, a complete push-button directory which accumulates the grocery list on a conveyor and transports it via a chute right into the car for the more indolent shoppers. And there would be a fully automatic telephone service to record the shopping list on tape, which would then be fed through mechanical marvels to collect the order in a box ready for delivery.

Pity the poor male who might be struck with the family shopping and found himself in the midst of a traffic congestion at the corner of tomato juice alley and stocking counter, when all he wanted was a package of cinnamon buns.

In the confusion of trying to dodge the ladies zig-zagging back and forth across the aisle from soap suds to face creams, he might accidentally push the automatic loading button and find himself being transported, along with the bananas and onions, across a maze of conveyors into the trunk of his car. No male could possibly cope with the mechanical gadgets which could be born in a feminine mentality.

Various types of automation were not the only recommendations of milady for the emporium of the future. There is, believe it or not, a pining for the friendly voice and helping hand of the corner grocer. The ladies like the personal touch of across-the-counter buying, and express particular displeasure at having to wait in check-out lines to pay the bill. Perhaps there is yet a chance that jet-propelled grocery carts and automated conveyors will not completely obliterate the sight of human beings in stores of the future.

After all, there is nothing warm and friendly about having a mechanical robot squash the tomatoes and then hold one up by the scruff of the neck until it extracts the money from her handbag. Such goings on might actually ignite the spark of revolution against the wonderful age of automation.

Books Best Sleep-Producers

NEW YORK (AP)—The late W. C. Fields had the only perfect cure for insomnia.

"Get more sleep," he advised. "Nothing promotes good sleep better than a good sound—but dull—book."

Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of health education for the American Medical Assn., pointed this out in a recent article on insomnia.

"If everything else fails," he advised, "there is nothing better to induce sleep than an educational book which you feel you ought to read but don't want to."

But what are the best books for sleeping? With some 11,000 new books being published yearly, America's slumber fodder is increasing by leaps and bounds. It may be necessary soon to put out a book on how to stay awake.

With literally hundreds of old and new favorite literary snore-starters to choose from, here is one man's list of a dozen tested books guaranteed to improve your mind—by putting it to sleep.

1. "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," by Edward Gibbon. This all-time champion has put more people to sleep than anything except the discovery of ether.

2. "War and Peace," by Tolstoi. Fine for a doze anywhere after the first page.

3. "Paradise Lost," by John Milton. Beware of reading this one backward. It's too exciting that way.

4. Any novel by Henry James or George Eliot.

5. Dr. Spock's book on child care. Recommended for bachelors.

6. "Rembranch of Things Past," by Marcel Proust. As lulling as if you were paddling a canoe with a wet piece of spaghetti in a lily pond in mid-July.

7. "Finnegan's Wake," by James Joyce. Doesn't make sense but will make you insensible.

8. "The Fable," by William Faulkner.

By Hal Boyle

9. "Collected Speeches," by William McKinley.

10. "Alice in Wonderland," by Lewis Carroll. No normal child ever waded through it except under compulsion.

11. "The Life of Peter Rabbit." For people who read with their lips. By the time you say "hip-hip-hip-hip-hop" 812 times, your lips are so tired you nod off.

12. Any how-to-do-it book on how to stop smoking, stop drinking—or start living. Best of field: "Wake up and Live."

At the risk of winning new enemies and alienating old friends, I could add a few alternate personal choices. They would include the memoirs of most World War II generals, much of the poetry of Walt Whitman and Carl Sandburg, "Das Kapital" by Karl Marx, and the headtr bits from Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

But when it comes to literary dullness, to each his own.

Teach Them To Think Sharply

The conversation throughout the land concerning education becomes louder, probably because few are satisfied with what is being accomplished in the United States. Bigness is not the answer. Everybody going to school, to high school, to college, is not the answer. Mere attendance is not evidence of study. Millicent C. McIntosh, president of Barnard College, said of this recently:

"...Never before in the long history of man's emergence from the mists of superstition and ignorance has unlimited opportunity for knowledge been available to everyone. But we have become drunk with our vision and have misused this wonderful tool. Our schools have often confused equality of opportunity with identity of experience. The result has been the problem so clearly brought into focus by the scientific achievements of the Russians: a huge school and college population with many young people of ability who have been given an inadequate education."

The term, equality of opportunity, is confusing because it fails to recognize that not all human beings are equally equipped to meet identical opportunities. Thomas Edison, for instance, was what we would today call underprivileged. He never received a B.A. or a B.S., to say nothing of an M.A. or a Ph.D. He was just Tom Edison, candy butcher on a railroad. But he developed into the greatest mind of his time to apply electrical theory to practical ends. He laid the foundation for innumerable great industries providing benefits to mankind.

Today, Tom Edison could not get a job. What were his qualifications? What college did he go to? What were his marks? Was he in the upper 10 per cent of his class? Did he make Phi Beta Kappa?

The answer to each one of these questions is negative!

Or take Henry Ford. He had practically no education at all. His ideas concerning history were juvenile even in his mature years, but Henry Ford was an original engineer, a brilliant salesman, a masterly administrator and a competent financier. Certainly he enjoyed no equality of opportunity; he made his opportunities. He created his own opportunities.

One might take a current example from one of those whom the sociologists would today regard as underprivileged, General David Sarnoff, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America. If General Sarnoff were a rich man, I would not regard him as important, because riches are sometimes accidentally accumulated and do not always represent intelligence. Also they often represent an element of luck which does not reflect ability or character.

But Sarnoff became a telegrapher for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company when it was a small enterprise. He happened to be on duty when the "Titanic" disaster occurred and he worked through day and night introducing radio to the world. The S.O.S. from the "Titanic" startled mankind. So Sarnoff had his day in the news. For many a man that would have been the end. But in due course, General Electric took over that service and Owen D. Young realized that in Sarnoff he had a man of extraordinary resources. When the Radio Corporation of America was organized, Sarnoff was included, eventually becoming the company's president and now its chairman.

But this still is not important. Such strokes of opportunity come to many men. What is different here is the development of radio and television into what used to be called the Red and Blue Networks and are now the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting Company. No one man is responsible for all that has happened in these and related fields, but Sarnoff has been the leader in the field throughout its history. He has also served his country in wartime in the vast field of electronics.

The three men I chose among hundreds to write about could not get jobs today in the fields in which they became leaders because they had not the requirements which are now regarded as essential yet which may not represent more than attendance at an educational institution. On the other hand, the colleges complain, as President McIntosh complains, that they are turning out uneducated persons who have equality of opportunity but surely not equality of intelligence.

And that is the problem that American education faces: it is not enough to attend a college; it is not enough even to get a B average or even an A average. What is essential is to stimulate intellectual initiative. The real task is to re-teach our people to think sharply, shrewdly, originally. Recreation Court Built At Kingston

The Kingston - Union Board of Education recently completed a multi-purpose asphalt output court for use by school children and residents of the Kingston area community.

The court is located directly behind the Kingston - Union elementary school. It will be used mainly for basketball with two courts, 35 feet by 65 feet, with four buckets.

Other uses include space for volleyball courts, tennis courts and conversion into a playground for the elementary students when weather is damp.

Estimated cost of the court was $1,100 which was reduced because it was supervised and partially erected by three Kingston residents.

THEY WERE Leon Acord, school janitor, Gary Cobb, a student, and Gary Walsh, head coach at Kingston. These three persons installed the basketball buckets. Walsh painted the lines for the courts.

The four baskets have fan-shaped backboards. The court was opened for public use the last week of July. The asphalt base was laid by the Blue Rock Co., Washington C. H.

Air Force Checks Man's Condition

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—The Air Force can now give a man a continuous physical examination while it bounces him around from high to low altitude and back again.

The examination is conducted by electronic devices demonstrated at Mitchell Air Force Base, with Sgt. Richard P. Lauser the guinea pig.

Lauser was taken quickly to a simulated level of 65,000 feet, allowed to "free fall" back to 25,000, brought back to 40,000, and then rushed back up to 65,000.

The rapid changes had important effects on his heart action, rate and flow of breathing and body temperature, and these were monitored continuously by the new equipment.

The equipment, developed for the Air Force by Gulf of Industries, Inc., Metuchen, N. J., is expected to help scientists gain still more knowledge of what really would happen to the human system in high-altitude and space flights.

Three Skeletons Uncovered Near Lima Gravel Pit

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Two more human skeletons were found Wednesday in a gravel pit where one was discovered three weeks ago.

Ohio State University scientists are studying the bones of the first one, described as that of a male about 65 years old, to determine how long it had been buried.

Sheriff Clay Cotterman said he believes the gravel pit in Bath Township was either an Indian burying ground or on the site of an abandoned and unrecorded private cemetery.

Recreation Court Built At Kingston

The Kingston - Union Board of Education recently completed a multi-purpose asphalt output court for use by school children and residents of the Kingston area community.

The court is located directly behind the Kingston - Union elementary school. It will be used mainly for basketball with two courts, 35 feet by 65 feet, with four buckets.

Other uses include space for volleyball courts, tennis courts and conversion into a playground for the elementary students when weather is damp.

Estimated cost of the court was $1,100 which was reduced because it was supervised and partially erected by three Kingston residents.

THEY WERE Leon Acord, school janitor, Gary Cobb, a student, and Gary Walsh, head coach at Kingston. These three persons installed the basketball buckets. Walsh painted the lines for the courts.

The four baskets have fan-shaped backboards. The court was opened for public use the last week of July. The asphalt base was laid by the Blue Rock Co., Washington C. H.

Air Force Checks Man's Condition

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—The Air Force can now give a man a continuous physical examination while it bounces him around from high to low altitude and back again.

The examination is conducted by electronic devices demonstrated at Mitchell Air Force Base, with Sgt. Richard P. Laauser the guinea pig.

Laauser was taken quickly to a simulated level of 65,000 feet, allowed to "free fall" back to 25,000, brought back to 40,000, and then rushed back up to 65,000.

The rapid changes had important effects on his heart action, rate and flow of breathing and body temperature, and these were monitored continuously by the new equipment.

The equipment, developed for the Air Force by Gulf of Industries, Inc., Metuchen, N. J., is expected to help scientists gain still more knowledge of what really would happen to the human system in high-altitude and space flights.

Who Knows Best about Men's Clothes? Women, of Course

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Mother knows best what Father should wear.

This seems to be an accepted fact among manufacturers, designers and salesmen of men's clothing. When Mom comes along to help Pop buy a new suit, everybody is delighted. Stanley Goldman, one of the country's leading manufacturers of men's upper-bracket suits, explains it.

"The average man is not a shopper," Goldman says. He dreads the idea of walking into a store and trying on things in front of strange salesmen. His main idea is to get it over with as quickly as possible, and get the heck out of there. So he orders the same kind of suit he's been wearing for the last 10 years and that's that. He resists the idea of a new style or a new color. He's a creature of habit, and becomes panicky when confronted with a change in routine.

"His wife, on the other hand, likes variety. She's interested in anything new. Moreover, she knows what looks well on her husband. If she goes along when he decides to buy a new suit, he's much more likely to come out with the right thing. And it also will be a much less painful performance. A man is timid about looking at anything new, he doesn't like discussing his clothing problems with strangers. But when his wife is with him, she's a friend, and he depends on her advice."

It's been a job, says this veteran expert in men's fashions, to get the American male to accept the new Continental styling of suits, and its present success is directly traceable to women's influence.

"The narrower line of the new suits, the slightly fitted look, the tapered trousers and sleeves all make a man look trimmer and more chesty—the way women like their men to look."

There's more style change in men's suits this fall than in many years, says Goldman, not only in cut but also in fabrics. The newest suitings are lightweight and comfortable, with subtle color blends.

Since the average American man today buys only seven-eighths of a suit each year, when he gets a new one, it should be right. And if he's wise, says Goldman, he'll heed the advice of his spouse.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

You Need a Refresher Course

DEAR ABBY: I have spent 25 years learning how to get along with my neighbors but these people from Europe who are flooding the U.S. really throw me.

They say our children are "gangsters" and that our schools teach nothing. These immigrants all graduated from colleges (in Europe, of course) and everything was better there than it is here. It's impossible to win an argument with them.

I wish I were head of the U.S. Immigration Dept. for one day! You're an American girl, Abby. Give me a defense.

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: I am an American only because my forebears migrated to this country, and so are you (unless you happen to be a full-blooded American Indian.)

May I quote the message on our Statue of Liberty: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shore, send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me. I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

DEAR ABBY: My niece is getting married and we got an invitation to the wedding. My daughter, who is 16, also got one. Our son, who is 12, was not invited. I felt bad about this and called my niece and asked if our son could come.

She said she was sorry but no children under 14 were invited as she had to draw the line somewhere. I can't go and leave the boy home alone, so I told her none of us was coming. My daughter is upset because she wants to go. Did I do right? And if we all stay home do I still owe the bride an apology?

AUNT E.

DEAR AUNT E.: You were wrong in punishing your daughter because your son was not invited. (Surely he can stay with a friend for a few hours?) "Drawing the line" is necessary and the bride's decision was not unreasonable. One never "owes" a gift, but under the circumstances I think you owe the bride an apology.

DEAR ABBY: I am an American sailor who has been married 16 months to a Spanish girl. Before we were married she was very affectionate and loving. Since our marriage she is a different girl. She has no affection for me at all. For almost a year we've been living like brother and sister. I am sure she has nobody else. What should I do?

MAC

DEAR MAC: Your wife should definitely consult a doctor. Long time no "SI".

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write ABBY, care of this newspaper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"My career was built on the roles that Ann turned down," Lucille claimed.

"I doubt that," Ann countered. "I wasn't that important."

At any rate, they became fast friends.

But Ann, unlike Lucille, has always been a lavish spender.

"I've always spent money," Ann admitted. "My theory is that whatever you spend will come back to you eventually. I've spent money even when I didn't have it."

Who Knows Best about Men's Clothes? Women, of Course

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Mother knows best what Father should wear.

This seems to be an accepted fact among manufacturers, designers and salesmen of men's clothing. When Mom comes along to help Pop buy a new suit, everybody is delighted. Stanley Goldman, one of the country's leading manufacturers of men's upper-bracket suits, explains it.

"The average man is not a shopper," Goldman says. He dreads the idea of walking into a store and trying on things in front of strange salesmen. His main idea is to get it over with as quickly as possible, and get the heck out of there. So he orders the same kind of suit he's been wearing for the last 10 year and that's that. He resists the idea of a new style or a new color. He's a creature of habit, and becomes panicky when confronted with a change in routine.

"His wife, on the other hand, likes variety. She's interested in anything new. Moreover, she knows what looks well on her husband. If she goes along when he decides to buy a new suit, he's much more likely to come out with the right thing. And it also will be a much less painful performance. A man is timid about looking at anything new, he doesn't like discussing his clothing problems with strangers. But when his wife is with him, she's a friend, and he depends on her advice."

It's been a job, says this veteran expert in men's fashions, to get the American male to accept the new Continental styling of suits, and its present success is directly traceable to women's influence.

"The narrower line of the new suits, the slightly fitted look, the tapered trousers and sleeves all make a man look trimmer and more chesty—the way women like their men to look."

There's more style change in men's suits this fall than in many years, says Goldman, not only in cut but also in fabrics. The new suitings are lightweight and comfortable, with subtle color blends.

Since the average American man today buys only seven-eighths of a suit each year, when he gets a new one, it should be right. And if he's wise, says Goldman, he'll heed the advice of his spouse.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

You Need a Refresher Course

DEAR ABBY: I have spent 25 years learning how to get along with my neighbors but these people from Europe who are flooding the U.S. really throw me.

They say our children are "gangsters" and that our schools teach nothing. These immigrants all graduated from colleges (in Europe, of course) and everything was better there than it is here. It's impossible to win an argument with them.

I wish I were head of the U.S. Immigration Dept. for one day! You're an American girl, Abby. Give me a defense.

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: I am an American only because my forebears migrated to this country, and so are you (unless you happen to be a full-blooded American Indian.)

May I quote the message on our Statue of Liberty: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shore, send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me. I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

DEAR ABBY: My niece is getting married and we got an invitation to the wedding. My daughter, who is 16, also got one. Our son, who is 12, was not invited. I felt bad about this and called my niece and asked if our son could come.

She said she was sorry but no children under 14 were invited as she had to draw the line somewhere. I can't go and leave the boy home alone, so I told her none of us was coming. My daughter is upset because she wants to go. Did I do right? And if we all stay home do I still owe the bride a gift?

AUNT E.

DEAR AUNT E.: You were wrong in punishing your daughter because your son was not invited. (Surely he can stay with a friend for a few hours?) "Drawing the line" is necessary and the bride's decision was not unreasonable. One never "owes" a gift, but under the circumstances I think you owe the bride an apology.

DEAR ABBY: I am an American sailor who has been married 16 months to a Spanish girl. Before we were married she was very affectionate and loving. Since our marriage she is a different girl. She has no affection for me at all. For almost a year we've been living like brother and sister. I am sure she has nobody else. What should I do?

MAC

DEAR MAC: Your wife should definitely consult a doctor. Long time no "SI".

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write ABBY, care of this newspaper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Tigers Hold Practice at Bexley High

A morning scrimmage with Bexley High School highlighted football practice for the Circleville Tigers yesterday. The locals returned here for a session in shorts and tee shirts in the afternoon.

No official score was kept of the encounter, but Bexley managed to score four times while keeping the locals from hitting paydirt. The unofficial test was conducted with both teams experimenting and practicing fundamentals.

The Tigers made the trip without Fullback Larry Hannahs who stayed home due to sickness. Regular End Leo Moats, suffering an ankle injury, was the only serious casualty of the day.

The Tigers, getting their first taste of game conditions, made their best showing in the second half of the scrimmage. The locals' best performance was on defense.

WORKING out in shorts for the first time, the Tigers concentrated on running plays and developing smoothness in the afternoon practice here.

Another scrimmage is set for Saturday at Logan. The Tigers will leave here at about 7 a. m. and hope to get underway on the Chieftain gridiron at 9 a. m.

Par Riddled By Touring Pros At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hey, duffer. How would you like to shoot par golf and wind up in an 11-way tie for 43rd place?

That's what happened Thursday as the nation's touring pros made a joke of regulation figures in the opening round of the $35,000 Milwaukee Open at the Tripoli Golf Club.

Of the 137 starters, 42 traveled the short 6,355-yard layout in less than par 70. And 11 others got down in par.

Pan-Am Games Are Under Way

U.S. Favored In Sports Show
By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The third Pan-American Games get underway today with gold medal winners apparently easy to pick in the three men's track and field finals on tap in the 12-sport program.

High jumper Charlie Dumas and hammer thrower Harold Connolly of the United States and Argentina's Osvaldo Suarez, in the 10,000-meter run, are odds-on favorites.

In addition, the evening track program at Soldier Field — where the games officially were opened Thursday before a reported 47,000 — will include 400-meter hurdles semifinals and trials in the 100-meter dash and 800-meter run.

The other competition in the kickoff round of 27 sports in this far-flung athletic carnival being held for the first time in the United States includes: women's track, basketball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's soccer, men's and women's tennis, men's volleyball, weightlifting, and yachting.

Two other gold medals will go to champions in the opening session. Javelin finals will be held in women's track and the bantam weight finals are scheduled in weightlifting.

The piecemeal schedule calls for 60-meter preliminaries through the semifinals for women; two home of the White Sox; three basketball games for men and two for women; foil matches in fencing; two soccer matches; two men's volleyball matches; yachting competition for seven different sailing craft types; and men's and women's tennis prelims.

pro from Lakeland, Fla., carded six birdies with a masterful putter for a brilliant 64. But he had to settle for a one-stroke lead in the 72-hole tournament.

Ohio State Fair Is Ready For Greatest Harness Meet

Trotters and pacers vie for an estimated $114,000 in purses at the 1959 Ohio State Fair harness racing meet. Termed the "greatest harness racing meet ever presented at the State Fair", the standardbreds compete for five afternoons, starting Saturday and closing September 3.

Four nationally famous colt stakes are the featured events. Attracted by large purses, and a newly renovated racing strip, large fields are expected to compete in each division. All races bear U. S. Trotting Association approval.

Going postward on Monday is the Ohio State Trot, for two-year-olds. The following day, two-year-old pacers compete in the Buckeye State Pace. Three-year-old pacers race Wednesday in the Director of Agriculture Pace, and the Governor's Cup eligibles, three-year-old trotters, race on Thursday. In all, the four colt races will have a purse value in excess of $93,000.

Among the leading contenders in each division are horses from many of the leading pari-mutuel tracks on the nation, and from the Grand Circuit. Also sure to be present are several of the nation's leading drivers.

EXPECTED to drive in several of the colt races is last year's leading driver in the 200-300 start category, Wayne "Curly" Smart of Delaware. With 92 wins for the season, Smart posted a UDR mark of .539. Also sure to see plenty of action is Dick Buxton, 30-year-old Urbana reinsman who last year won 89 races and earned more than $132,000 in purses.

Leading contenders in their respective divisions are J. M. Pilot, winner of eight consecutive heats, Miss Coalstown, with a 2:06 1-5 mark and five wins, Ohio Time, 2:04 1-5; Right Time 2:02; and a host of other highly reparded youngsters.

Overnight purses from $1,500 to $2,000 in value make up the entire opening day card and complete the program each afternoon. Post time is 1 p. m. daily. Here is the schedule:

Saturday—1. Three-year-old trot (eligible 22 class), overnight, $1,500.00; 2. Two-year-old filly pace, overnight, $1,500.00; 3. Three-year-old pace (eligible 22 class), overnight, $1,500.00; 4. 17 Class Pace, overnight, $1,500.00.

Reid Hurls 2 No-Hitters In Title Wins

Pitcher Kenny Reid turned in an iron man performance for the Circleville Merchants last night at Bremen as he hurled two no-hitters to gain the Invitational Tournament championship.

The ace hurler didn't give up a single safety in either encounter as his mates proceeded to take the first game, 1-0, and the second by a count of 9-0. Both wins were over Philo.

The veteran fireballer recorded a whopping total of 26 strikeouts in the two tests. Throwing his fastballs and curves with perfection, he fanned 15 in the first test and 11 in the second.

Six hits in the first game were all the Merchants needed behind Reid's tight pitching. The locals collected 10 bingles in the second contest.

The double win gave the Merchants undisputed championship of the tournament. They will receive sparkling new softball jackets for taking the honor.

IT'S DONE THIS WAY — CHS varsity end and tackle coach Jack Weikert demonstrates the right approach for a tackle at a recent practice session at the S. Court St. Elementary School field. Tigers Hold Practice at Bexley High

A morning scrimmage with Bexley High School highlighted football practice for the Circleville Tigers yesterday. The locals returned here for a session in shorts and tee shirts in the afternoon.

No official score was kept of the encounter, but Bexley managed to score four times while keeping the locals from hitting paydirt. The unofficial test was conducted with both teams experimenting and practicing fundamentals.

The Tigers made the trip without Fullback Larry Hannahs who stayed home due to sickness. Regular End Leo Moats, suffering an ankle injury, was the only serious casualty of the day.

The Tigers, getting their first taste of game conditions, made their best showing in the second half of the scrimmage. The locals' best performance was on defense.

WORKING out in shorts for the first time, the Tigers concentrated on running plays and developing smoothness in the afternoon practice here.

Another scrimmage is set for Saturday at Logan. The Tigers will leave here at about 7 a. m. and hope to get underway on the Chieftain gridiron at 9 a. m.

Par Riddled By Touring Pros At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hey, duffer. How would you like to shoot par golf and wind up in an 11-way tie for 43rd place?

That's what happened Thursday as the nation's touring pros made a joke of regulation figures in the opening round of the $35,000 Milwaukee Open at the Tripoli Golf Club.

Of the 137 starters, 42 traveled the short 6,355-yard layout in less than par 70. And 11 others got down in par.

Pan-Am Games Are Under Way

U.S. Favored In Sports Show

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—The third Pan-American Games get underway today with gold medal winners apparently easy to pick in the three men's track and field finals on tap in the 12-sport program.

High jumper Charlie Dumas and hammer thrower Harold Connolly of the United States and Argentina's Osvaldo Suarez, in the 100-meter run, are odds-on favorites.

In addition, the evening track program at Soldier Field — where the games officially were opened Thursday before a reported 47,000 — will include 400-meter hurdles semifinals and trials in the 100-meter dash and 800-meter run.

The other competition in the kickoff round of 27 sports in this far-flung athletic carnival being held for the first time in the United States includes: women's track, baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's soccer, men's and women's tennis, men's volleyball, weightlifting, and yachting.

Two other gold medals will go to champions in the opening session. Javelin finals will be held in women's track and the bantam weight finals are scheduled in weightlifting.

The piecemeal schedule calls for 60-meter preliminaries through the semifinals for women; two home of the White Sox; three basketball games for men and two for women; foil matches in fencing; two soccer matches; two men's volleyball matches; yachting competition for seven different sailing craft types; and men's and women's tennis prelims.

pro from Lakeland, Fla., carded six birdies with a masterful putt for a brilliant 64. But he had to settle for a one-stroke lead in the 72-hole tournament.

Qyast Ousted In Women's Am

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I was positive on the 19th I would lose it."

Barbara McIntire made the confession after she actually won it—the jolting upset of defending champion Anne Quast in the quarter-finals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss McIntire, an attractive 24-year-old tournament veteran from Lake Park, Fla., defeated Miss Quast, of Marysville, Wash., 1 up on the 20th hole at Congressional Country Club Thursday.

Joining the Florida girl into today's semifinals were Mrs. Dorothy Germain Porter of Westmont,

Elk Golfers In Tourney

Several local golfers participated in a South Central Ohio Elks Tourney held Wednesday in Chillicothe.

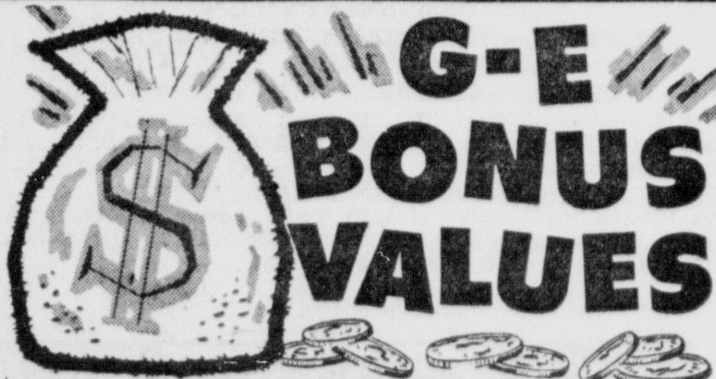

Rick Spires, Cedar Heights Road, led the local group with a net score of 72. He fired a 38-37 for a 75 gross.

Medalists for the tourney were Ray Spires of Lancaster, Rick's brother, and Howard Saunders of Gallipolis. Each had a low net 69.

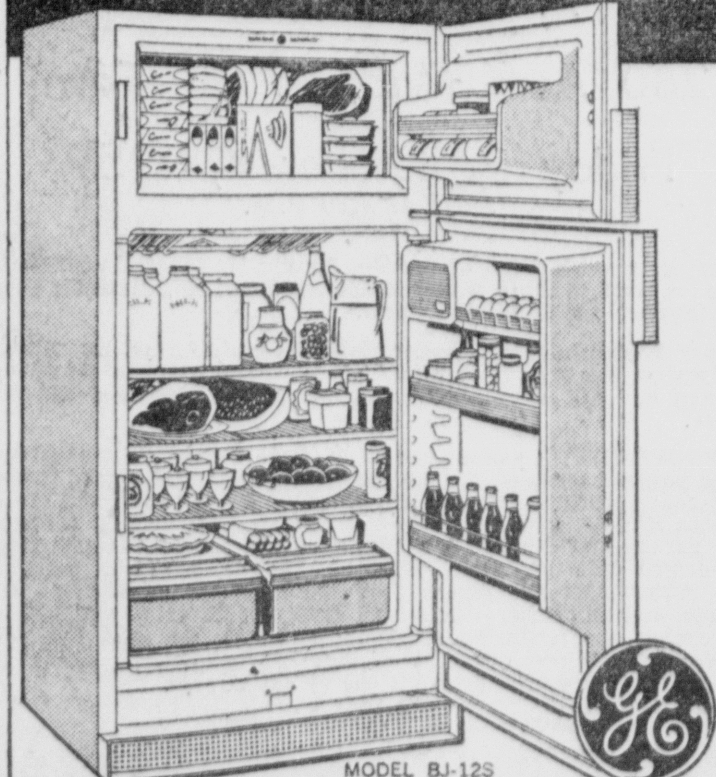

Low net for the locals was turned in by Dr. William Ricker, a 70. Spires, a top golfer at the Pickaway Country Club, had the longest drive of the day, a shot which traveled 355 yards.

Other golfers from here participating in the tourney were Tom Eveland, Bob Huffer, Henry Schroeder, Bonner Ezell, George Fuhrman, Art Marshall, Brick Wuest, Garold Crites, Al Lustnauer and Dr. Dave Goldschmidt.

Ohio State Fair Is Ready For Greatest Harness Meet

Trotters and pacers vie for an estimated $114,000 in purses at the 1959 Ohio State Fair harness racing meet. Termed the "greatest harness racing meet ever presented at the State Fair", the standardbreds compete for five afternoons, starting Saturday and closing September 3.

Four nationally famous colts stakes are the featured events. Attracted by large purses, and a newly renovated racing strip, large fields are expected to compete in each division. All races bear U. S. Trotting Association approval.

Going postward on Monday is the Ohio State Trot, for two-year-olds. The following day, two-year-old pacers compete in the Buckeye State pace. Three-year-old pacers race Wednesday in the Director of Agriculture Pace, and the Governor's Cup eligible, three-year-old trotters, race on Thursday. In all, the four colt races will have a purse value in excess of $93,000.

Among the leading contenders in each division are horses from many of the leading pari-mutuel tracks on the nation, and from the Grand Circuit. Also sure to be present are several of the nation's leading drivers.

EXPECTED to drive in several of the colt races is last year's leading driver in the 200-300 start category, Wayne "Curly" Smart of Delaware. With 92 wins for the season, Smart posted a UDR mark of .539. Also sure to see plenty of action is Dick Buxton, 30-year-old Urbana reinsman who last year won 89 races and earned more than $132,000 in purses.

Leading contenders in their respective divisions are J. M. Pilot, winner of eight consecutive heats, Miss Coaltown, with a 2:06 1-5 mark and five wins, Ohio Time, 2:04 1-5; Right Time 2:02; and a host of other highly repared youngsters.

Overnight purses from $1,500 to $2,000 in value make up the entire opening day card and complete the program each afternoon. Post time is 1 p. m. daily. Here is the schedule:

Saturday—1. Three-year-old trot (eligible 22 class), overnight, $1,500.00; 2. Two-year-old (411) pace, overnight, $1,500.00; 3. Three-year-old pace (eligible 22 class), overnight, $1,500.00; 4. 17 Class pace, overnight, $1,500.00.

Reid Hurls 2 No-Hitters In Title Wins

Pitcher Kenny Reid turned in an iron man performance for the Circleville Merchants last night at Bremen as he hurled two no-hitters to gain the Invitational Tournament championship.

The ace hurler didn't give up a single safety in either encounter as his mates proceeded to take the first game, 1-0, and the second by a count of 9-0. Both wins were over Philo.

The veteran fireballer recorded a whopping total of 26 strikeouts in the two tests. Throwing his fastballs and curves with perfection, he fanned 15 in the first test and 11 in the second.

Six hits in the first game were all the Merchants needed behind Reid's tight pitching. The locals collected 10 bingles in the second contest.

The double win gave the Merchants undisputed championship of the tournament. They will receive sparkling new softball jackets for taking the honor.

Grand American Handicap On Today at Vandalia Traps

By FRITZ HOWELL
VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Trap-shooting's showpiece, the 60th Grand American Handicap, is on today—and if precedent is any indication—anyone can win it except Richard Krohn of Harvard, Ill.

Krohn, a bearded 29-year-old grain hauler, probably wrecked his chances when he won the preliminary handicap Thursday with a score of 99 from 19 yards and picked up some $7,000.

Only once in the previous 59 years has anyone captured both features and that happened back in 1905 when R. R. Barber of Paulina, Iowa, grabbed the preliminary with a 98 and came back the next day with 96 to win the big one.

Only 352 competed in that one, and today's classic was expected to attract more than 2,300 shooters.

Krohn maintained the tradition that the rich handicap titles generally go to an unknown. He is a Class D shooter, lowest in the ratings, has never won anything anywhere and has been sleeping in a tent on the trapshooting grounds.

In his first trip here, the novice outshot a field of 2,085 to take it all.

The field will be fighting today to return the Grand American title to the United States. A year ago, E. Jerson Clark of Preston, Ont., outshot a field of 2,202 to take the laurels, the only time a non-resident of the United States has triumphed.

Arnold Riegger of Castle Rock, Wash., after breaking 1,422 consecutive targets at 16 yards here, finally missed Thursday and it cost him the North American Clay Target championship and the Class AA title. The miss was in a long-delayed shootoff. Dan Orlich, former Green Bay footballer from Reno, Nev., emerged with the Class AA crown.

Kevin Onka, 16-year-old son of a Sugar Creek, Mo., grocer, broke the first 200 of his career to win the North American Clay Target race. He passed up the assured junior title to battle for the big one because, he said, "I'd like to see just how tough this Riegger is."

The youngest outshot Orlich, Riegger and two others to become the youngest ever to take the 16-yard championship.

In Thursday's preliminary, Helen Hoffman of Danville, Ill., won the women's title with 96 of 100, defeating Mrs. Mary Meadows of Gimes, Iowa in a shootoff.

Cliff Doughman of Alton, Ill., won the professional crown with 94 and young Bill Lacey of Fort Worth, Tex., cracked 97 to win the junior laurels.

Hot Weather Ruins Fishing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The hot weather has its effect on the fish, too. They're not biting so well—but after all, as the Ohio Division of Wildlife points out, August probably is the poorest fishing month in this state.

Here's the rundown on district conditions:

NORTHWEST—Almost all streams are extremely low with very few fish being caught. Lakes are in fair to good condition with fishing pressure very low.

NORTHEAST—Night fishing is furnishing best results in both lakes and streams throughout this area. Streams are mostly clear and low, and lakes clear and normal. There are no particular "hot spots" to report.

EAST-CENTRAL & SOUTH-EAST—Scattered reports from this district indicate poor fishing in both lakes and streams. Most waters are in fair to good fishing condition, with streams below normal.

CENTRAL & SOUTHERN—Delaware and Hoover reservoirs, Delaware County; Buckeye Lake, Fairfield County, and Rocky Fork Lake, Highland County, report good water conditions. Few fish are being caught, however. Streams throughout the district are low but clear.

SOUTHWEST—Fishing pressure is extremely light in this area, although most waters are in fair to good condition. A few muskies have been reported from Cowan Lake, Clinton County. Night time fishing for smallmouths in streams has been fairly successful.

LAKE ERIE & SANDUSKY BAY—Both Lake Erie and Sandusky Bay have clear water, with some white bass, perch and sheepshead being caught.

Farm Bureau Fights House Hog Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said Thursday it is opposing a U.S. House bill that would guarantee hog producers a price of $14 per 100 pounds. The federation's board said it believes the program would put a ceiling on prices and lower farm income rather than raise it.

Law Requires Time Limit Before Pension

Questions of interest to ex-service-men should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the court house.

Q—I am a World War I veteran and have been married for the past two years. In the event of my death, would my widow be eligible to receive a pension?

A—The law provides that in order for a widow to be eligible for a pension, there must have been five years of marriage prior to the death of the veteran, or a child born of the union.

Q—My son is eligible for college training under the War Orphans Education program. He would like to attend a college in Canada. Is this possible?

A—No it is not. Generally, War Orphans schooling in educational institutions outside the United States is prohibited by law.

Q—I DO NOT recall whether I changed the beneficiary on my government Life Insurance when my last child was born. What should I do, write to them to find out?

A—My advise is to complete a new "Change of Beneficiary Form" and show your wife as first beneficiary, and your two children as second beneficiaries. It is best, when in doubt, to make out this form.

Q—I am a Korean veteran, and will start to Ohio State University this fall under the Korean GI Bill as a disabled veteran. My wife is a school teacher. Can she declare me as a dependent, when I will receive over $1,200 per year in subsistence and compensation?

A—She most certainly can. Any money which you receive as subsistence and compensation is not considered as income for tax purposes.

Q—My World War II GI term insurance is getting pretty expensive for me, and I would like to convert to a permanent plan, but do not feel I can afford to convert all at once. Could I convert, say $2,000 worth now, and the balance later?

A—You most certainly can, and should. As long as you convert at least $1,000 worth and additional amounts in multiples of $500, partial conversion of your GI Term Insurance to permanent insurance is agreeable with the VA.

Congress Plans Atom Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Atomic Energy Committee said today it would send to both branches next week a bill authorizing 105 million dollars for the world's largest atom smasher.

The two-mile-long linear electron accelerator is to be built at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

It is estimated the accelerator will take about six years to build. At present the Soviet Union has the largest atom smasher; it is in operation at Dubna near Moscow.
